

Mark Mangan

Mark Mangan is one of the leading arbitration lawyers based in Asia. He has appeared as counsel in over 50 cases, arising all around the world. Many of the cases have been ground-breaking; have often raised novel and complex issues requiring innovative solutions; and routinely involve some of the world's leading corporations, sovereign governments and state-owned entities.

Mark regularly sits as an arbitrator, having been appointed on over 25 occasions under the rules of various institutions, including the SIAC, ICC, HKIAC, LCIA, SCC and KCAB, serving as sole, presiding and emergency arbitrator, and co-arbitrator.

Mark and his team handle disputes across a range of sectors. Areas of focus include oil and gas (including gas price reviews), mining, nuclear energy, renewables, high technology, construction, life sciences, private equity, cryptocurrencies, the formation and winding down of financial funds, F&B, and telecommunications. Mark also has an active investment treaty and sports arbitration practice.
